

We got you covered to instruct, inform, and alert.

At Boxlight, our mission is to maximize learning, simplify communication, and elevate safety.

Our integrated solutions deliver unmatched performance by working seamlessly together—providing exclusive capabilities like simultaneous audio-visual alerting, instructional technology with built-in safety features, and extensive customization to meet district, state, and federal standards.

With our ATTENTION! school and safety communication system, we unify three powerful ecosystems:

- FrontRow for audio and campus communication, including Conductor and classroom audio systems

- Clevertouch for digital signage and interactive panels
- ATTENTION! Approved third-party devices and platforms, including school safety tools and networked or 70V audio devices

This allows schools and districts to build a scalable, future-ready communication system tailored to their unique needs and existing tech stack.

Boxlight is your single-source partner—eliminating the complexity of juggling multiple vendors and unreliable, patched-together integrations. From warranties to tech support, we simplify your experience with one trusted manufacturer.

Boxlight solutions are extendable, scalable, reliable, and future-proof—earning global recognition, including being ranked the #38 ed tech company in the world by TIME Magazine based on independent research and evaluation.

District-wide Implementation

ATTENTION! can be deployed district-wide to create a unified system for communication, alerts, and emergency response—enhancing safety, streamlining operations, and simplifying management across every school and facility.
